

On the 1st, 2nd and 3rd of June Interstuhl was present at the event for interior design in the beautiful Taets complex in Zaandam: Design District. The visitors were mainly designers, interior architects, consultants, facility managers and design agencies.

In a 7.000 m² hall, the latest and best products in the field of interior design were displayed. We were present with a dominant position and the theme "ENJOY YOUR HAPPINESS".

Interstuhl has been known for more than 55 years as a manufacturer of innovative office seating. At the exhibition the latest collections were shown. The way we work has changed, so the resources also need to change. There is demand for a playful, colourful setting for a contemporary way of working. Interstuhl provides furniture for spontaneous meetings or relaxed seating. The collections have won various design awards and KINETICis5 and MOVYis3 were chosen for the last James Bond movie "Spectre".

Interstuhl's latest development was also introduced during Design District: UPis1. This versatile multi-purpose stool combines spontaneity, creativity and sustainability - for more flexibility and movement day in, day out. The reactions were very positive, especially regarding the colours, the height-adjustability and the price! Once again, Interstuhl showed it's pedigree as a leading quality seating manufacturer.
