

Successful first design days

From 22nd to 24th May 2014 the first design days in Copenhagen were organised following the motto "Go behind the façade". The design days are a cooperation of well-known design companies, which opened their showrooms during the event for exhibitions, product presentations and mingling. Interstuhl was represented with the redesigned showroom directly at the harbour of Copenhagen and gave insights into its unique company history, the force of innovation and the German art of engineering.

Beside the "top performers" of the Scandinavian market on the exhibition area of 300m², the latest achievements of the Swabian engineering smithy were presented. The expressive conference line VINTAGEis5, the bar stool family KINETICis5 which brings more movement, more comfort and more flexibility into the communication areas, with its clever performance, as well as the highly flexible folding tables NESTYis3. Additionally, the young classic Silver could be tried out. During the event, the typical Interstuhl family relationship with business partners and guests was felt in the design showroom.
